Prayer Points:

- For the believing Indian students to be able to reach their Hindu friends.
- For the safety of our Armenian friends in our old neighborhood.
- For courage to faithfully share the Gospel in St. Petersburg.
- For God to continue to use the tracts we are producing to cause people to think about eternity.
- For Brittany as she prepares for the future.

THE END

Indian Meeting Ends

Our meeting with the Indian medical students ended in May. Most of them return to India for the summer and we will resume our Bible Study in the Fall. We ended the year by showing an evangelistic film to the mostly Hindu student population. My partner, Ken and I also spoke to them for about an hour about Sin & Salvation. I was not sure how they would react, but many of them came up afterwards and told us how interesting our talk was. The believing students who hosted the event said that the response was very positive. For several days afterwards they had unbelieving students asking when we would be having another event for them to attend. Praise God that we were able to share the gospel clearly and have an open door to do it again next year.

A Young Life Ends

A young man that was part of our children's meeting about 9 years ago was recently killed in a street fight. Oleg (highlighted in photo) came to our youth meetings briefly when he was a boy. After he stopped attending youth meetings we lost track of him. I was sad to find out a few years ago that he was terrorizing our old neighborhood as part of a skin-head gang. A few weeks ago he attacked a dark-skinned Armenian guy and was stabbed to death by the guy's older brother. The skin-head gang threatened retaliation and our Armenian friends from that area ended up staying with us for a few days while things cooled off. Please pray that this would cause many to think about eternity and their need for Jesus.

Are You Ready for the End?

When doing street evangelism, we like to ask people what they think will happen after they die. Sometimes we assume that people do not want to talk about death when, in fact, it is exactly what is on their minds and many are anxious to discuss it. If we will just open our mouths then God will open hearts.

Not long ago, a friend of ours named Kostya, who shares they gospel with college students, told us of an interesting encounter. He approached some girls and asked them if they had ever thought about what happens to the soul after death. One girl said that she had recently been thinking about it a lot after reading a small booklet that someone had given her on the street. When she showed it to Kostya it turned out to be one of the tracts that we had printed and handed out in our area. God used it to enable Kostya to have a long conversation with those girls about eternity!

End of High School

Brittany graduated in May of 2007. She plans to spend next year in Russia with us and begin college in the Fall of 2008. She will be pursuing a degree in nursing and is trying to get her Nursing Assistant's Certification this summer. If you would like to send her a card, please mail it to:
